

Championing women in the construction industry

At OnSite Support, we are proud to champion women in the construction industry and want to do all we can to empower them within our sector. As part of this effort, we are committed to identifying challenges that disproportionately affect women and to provide solutions that make a genuine difference.

It is all part of a broader desire to deliver safety, welfare and site equipment for all involved in the construction trade. That is why we have published this dedicated brochure, which showcases our gender-specific personal protective equipment (PPE) products.

Each year, more women enter the construction sector. According to Go Construct, a sizeable 37% of new employees choosing construction after university are women and approximately 14% of all construction industry professionals are now female. Of course, there is still ample room, for the sector in which we supply to, to improve its performance and to become more diverse.

Unlike traditional unisex-style PPE garments, our gender-specific PPE products provide a better fit and are therefore more effective for use across a wide range of construction tasks. The range, which comprises helmets, hi-vis clothing, footwear, eyewear and much more has been significantly added to in recent months. As such, this new brochure now provides a veritable 'one-stop-shop' for women in the trade.

As well as being developed and designed to better fit women, the equipment included in the brochure still benefits from our industry-leading product design and high-quality material choices. Likewise, we are still able to offer the same great value, which we have built our name on within the PPE market. To this end, we have worked tirelessly to ensure the products included in this brochure still meet our very high standards and provide crucial protection.

Our Mission and Values

Our Mission

For over 40 years, we've worked on the principle that safety and productivity go hand-in-hand; and for us, safety starts and finishes with people.

Listening to and caring about our own people and our clients alike means we can deliver what everyone wants: the right product, into the right hands, at the right time, without fail – so everyone goes home safe, and happy too. That's why we'll still be here, in another 40 years, doing what we've always done best: putting people first.

Our Values

We care about people

We put people first. We invest in personal relationships. We look after our clients and each other.

We're positive and helpful.

We approach every interaction with a 'can-do' attitude. When we encounter challenges, we work together to find the solution.

We go the extra mile.

We don't just tick boxes. We ask ourselves "what does the client really need?" and then find a way to deliver it.

We're committed to learning and innovation.

We're always learning. We use that knowledge to help our clients, and to consistently lead on innovation.

We strive for excellence.

We seek to be the very best at what we do, so that our clients, in turn, can excel and thrive.
